

The Business of Fashion - Privacy Policy

Last updated: 14 May 2021

PLEASE READ THIS POLICY CAREFULLY BEFORE USING THE BUSINESS OF FASHION'S SERVICES

Protecting your data, privacy and personal information is very important to The Business of Fashion (“our”, “us” or “we”).

This policy (together with our terms of use at www.businessoffashion.com/legal#terms and any other documents referred to in it), sets out the basis on which any personal data we collect from you, or that you provide to us, will be processed by The Business of Fashion. Please read this privacy policy carefully to understand the types of information we collect from you, how we use that information, the circumstances under which we will share it with third parties, and your rights in relation to the personal data you provide to us.

When visiting The Business of Fashion’s website at www.businessoffashion.com (our “Website”) or mobile applications, or using any of the services offered via the Website including (but not limited to) RSS feeds, software or other downloads (the “Services”), you will be asked to indicate your acknowledgement of, and where applicable consent to, the practices described in this policy.

Our Website contains links to third party websites. If you follow a link to any of those third party websites, please note that they have their own privacy policies and that we do not accept any responsibility or liability for their policies or processing of your personal information. Please check these policies before you submit any personal information to such third party websites.

Information we may collect

We may collect and process the following data about you:

- Information that you provide to us. You will be asked to provide us with your information when you:
 - fill in forms on our Website, or correspond with us by phone, email or otherwise;
 - register to use our Services;
 - use the Services;
 - report a problem with our Website or Services; or
 - complete any surveys we ask you to fill in that we use for research purposes (although you do not have to respond to these if you do not want to).

You must have obtained clear permission from the individuals whose data you provide us with before sharing that data with us.

For the avoidance of any doubt, any reference in this privacy policy to your data shall include data about other individuals that you have provided us with.

The information you will be asked to provide to us for these purposes will include, but is not limited to, your name, address, email address, job title, location, payment information such as credit card information, and social media authentication data (where you authorise us to access this).

Where you use the Services offered on the 'Careers' section of our Website, you will be asked to provide us with details of your current educational history including school(s) attended, previous employer(s) and work experience information, and other relevant information from your CV (where you provide this to us).

- Information we collect about you. With regard to each of your visits to our Website we may automatically collect the following information:
 - device-specific information, such as your hardware model, operating system version, unique device identifiers, and mobile network information;
 - technical information about your computer, including where available, your IP address, operating
 - system and browser type, for system administration and analytical purposes; and
 - details of your visits to our website, including the full Uniform Resource Locators (URL) clickstream to, through and from our website (including date and time), length of visits to certain pages, and page interaction information (such as scrolling, clicks, and mouse-overs).
- Information we receive from other sources. When using our Services, we will be in contact with third parties who may provide us with certain information about you in order to enable your use of the Services. This includes information about your purchase transactions from Recurly and Stripe (please refer to section below titled "Disclosure of your information") in order that we know your payment has been successful.

Information we may collect about others. We may collect and process data about others that you provide us with, including (but not limited to) information that you provide by filling in forms on our Website or that you provide to us by email. This information might include, but is not limited to, information you provide to us on your CV, if relevant, such as employer details including your references' name, email address, telephone number, and address, or may include emails you provide to us in order to share articles or jobs.

How we use your information and justification of use.

Use of personal information under EU data protection laws must be justified under one of a number of legal "grounds" and we are required to set out the ground in respect of each use of your personal data in this policy. These are the principal grounds that justify our use of your information:

- Consent: where you have consented to our use of your information (you are providing explicit, informed, freely given consent, in relation to any such use and may withdraw your consent in the circumstance detailed below by notifying us);
- Contract performance: where your information is necessary to enter into or perform our contract with you;
- Legal obligation: where we need to use your information to comply with our legal obligations;

- Legitimate interests: where we use your information to achieve a legitimate interest and our reasons for using it outweigh any prejudice to your data protection rights; and
- Legal claims: where your information is necessary for us to defend, prosecute or make a claim against you or a third party.

We use information held about you (and information about others that you have provided us with) in the following ways:

Corporate Accounts – User Details	Email address, level of engagement with content, articles accessed and viewed and related time stamps (including via web and mobile access)	To administer individual user accounts.	Legitimate Interest
--	---	---	---------------------

We will not sell your personal data (or any other data you provide us with) to third-parties; however, we reserve the right to share any data which has been anonymised and/or aggregated. You acknowledge and accept that we own all right, title and interest in and to any derived data or aggregated and/or anonymised data collected or created by us.

Profiling

Where you use certain features of our Services, such as the 'Follow' feature to follow companies and brands you are interested in, we will use the data described above (in the To help you discover and connect with our community section) to create an automated profile about what content, articles, and job offers we think you will be most interested in hearing about. We do this by collecting and statistically analysing your information and the way you use the Website and Services, to automatically match you with the content on our Website.

You have the right at any time to ask that we stop using your data for such automated profiling, or you can contact us if you would like to understand more about the data used to create your profile. If you ask us to stop using your data for profiling, you will no longer receive content targeted or personalised for your specific interests.

Marketing

We may use information for marketing products and services to you in the following ways:

Type of marketing activity	Use Justification
Newsletters and marketing emails relating to our own similar services and products. Where required by law, we will ask for your consent at the time we collect your data to conduct any of these types of marketing.	Legitimate interests (to market our products and services — you have the right to unsubscribe at any time)
To send you details about our own unrelated services or products or special offers and discounts which are being provided by our selected business partners. Where required by law, we will ask your consent at the time we collect your data to conduct any of these types of marketing.	Consent (which can be withdrawn at any time)

We will provide an option to unsubscribe or opt-out of further communication on any electronic marketing communication sent to you or you may opt out by contacting us at privacy@businessoffashion.com.

Where we store your personal information

The personal data that we collect from you (including email addresses that form part of our prospective marketing database) may be transferred to and stored at a destination outside of the European Economic Area (“EEA”). This data may also be processed by staff operating outside of the EEA who work for us or for one of our business partners or service providers. This includes Amazon Web Services, Inc., which processes data on our behalf in the EU and, and the business and service providers we work with in the US, Australia and Canada which are listed below in the ‘Disclosure of your Information’ section.

Your passwords are stored on The Business of Fashion’s servers in encrypted form. We do not disclose your account details, postal or email addresses to anyone except when legally required to do so. It is your responsibility to keep your password secure. We ask you not to share your password with anyone.

Disclosure of your information

We may disclose your personal information to potential employers and agents, as well as to our service providers and business partners to assist us in performing any contract we enter into with them or you, including providing the Website and the Services it enables and analytics providers, (to assist us in the improvement and optimisation of the Website) and/or a member of our group, which means our subsidiaries, our ultimate holding company and its subsidiaries, as defined in section 1159 of the UK Companies Act 2006. A list of such third parties and agents is as follows:

- Recurly: a subscription management service used by us to process payments.
- Stripe: used by us to process online payments.
- MailChimp: used to send administration of service emails such as email verification, password reset and welcome email; and other potential marketing messages where you have given your explicit consent for us to do so.
- Intercom: a customer messaging service used by us to provide customer support.
- Thinkific: used by us to create and market our BoF Education courses.
- Disqus: a comment hosting service used by us for our Website.
- Shopify: an e-commerce platform we use for our online store.
- Mandrill: a transactional email platform from MailChimp (see above).
- Amazon Web Services: Hosting services.
- SurveyMonkey: an online survey tool we use for research purposes.
- Hotjar: an analytics tool we use to understand your use of our Website.
- Typeform: an online form building and online survey service.
- Eventbrite: an event management and ticketing service

- Biblio: content recommendation service.
- Facebook: a social media and social networking service used by us to enable paid marketing.
- Auth0: A authentication and authorisation system used to register and login users, as well as secure user passwords.
- Braze: A customer engagement platform used to allow us to better communicate and engage our users across all products
- mParticle: A customer data platform used by us to track and maintain consent status for users across all systems and tools we use
- Madgex: A job board vendor used to power the BoF Careers platform.
- Brightback: A service which uses data to enable our cancellation process.
- ProfitWell: A subscription metrics service which uses data to help us manage our dunning and payment processes
- Active Campaign: A marketing automation platform we use to track user behaviour

In addition, we may also disclose your personal information to third parties in the following circumstances:

Purpose of disclosure and third party(s) to which disclosure might be made	Use Justification
If we sell or buy any business or assets, we may disclose your personal information to the prospective seller or buyer of such business or assets.	Legitimate interests
If The Business of Fashion or substantially all of its assets are acquired by a third party, personal information about our customers will be one of the transferred assets.	Legitimate interests
If we are under a duty to disclose or share your personal data in order to comply with any legal obligation or to protect the rights, property, or safety of The Business of Fashion, our customers, or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organisations for the purposes of fraud protection.	Legal obligation
Fraud Prevention and other checks. We and other organisations may also access and use your personal information to conduct credit checks and checks to prevent fraud. If false or accurate information is provided and fraud is identified or suspected, details may be passed to fraud prevent agencies.	Legitimate interests (to assist with the prevention of fraud and to assess your risk profile)
We may disclose your personal information to third parties, the court service and/or regulators or law enforcement agencies in connection with proceedings or investigations anywhere in the world where compelled to do so. Where permitted, we will direct any such request to you or notify you before responding unless to do so would prejudice the prevention or detection of a crime.	Legitimate interests (to cooperate with law enforcement and regulatory authorities)

Security over the internet

No data transmission over the internet or website can be guaranteed to be secure from intrusion. However, we maintain commercially reasonable physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect your personal information in accordance with data protection legislative requirements.

All information you provide to us is stored on our (only as necessary for us to perform our services and in accordance with 'Disclosure of your information' above) secure servers, and accessed and used subject to our security policies and standards.

Sensitive information between your browser and our Website is transferred in encrypted form using Secure Socket Layer ("SSL"). When transmitting sensitive information, you should always make sure that your browser can validate the The Business of Fashion certificate.

Unfortunately, the transmission of information via the internet is not completely secure. Although The Business of Fashion will do its best to protect your personal data, we cannot guarantee the security of your data transmitted to our Website, any transmission is at your own risk. Once we have received your information, we will use strict procedures and security features to try to prevent any unauthorised access.

Exports outside the EEA

Your personal information may be accessed by staff or suppliers in, transferred to, and/or stored at, a destination outside the European Economic Area (EEA) in which data protection laws may be of a lower standard than in the EEA. Regardless of location or whether the person is an employee or contractor, we will impose the same data protection safeguards that we deploy inside the EEA.

Certain countries outside the EEA have been approved by the European Commission as providing essentially equivalent protections to EEA data protection laws and therefore no additional safeguards are required to export personal information to these jurisdictions. In countries which have not had these approvals, we will either ask for your consent to the transfer or transfer it subject to European Commission approved contractual terms that impose equivalent data protection obligations directly on the recipient, unless we are permitted under applicable data protection law to make such transfers without such formalities.

Please contact us if you would like further details of the specific safeguards applied to the export of your personal data.

How long we retain your personal data

We will hold the above information for as long as is necessary in order to conduct the processing detailed in the table above, deal with any specific issues that may raise, or otherwise as is required by law or any relevant regulatory body. Some personal data may need to be retained for longer than this to ensure The Business of Fashion can comply with applicable laws and internal compliance procedures, including retaining your email address for marketing communication suppression if you have opted not to receive any further marketing.

If information is used for two purposes, we will retain it until the purpose with the latest period expires but we will stop using it for the purpose with a shorter period when that period expires.

We restrict access to your personal information to those persons who need to use it for the relevant purpose(s). Our retention periods are based on business needs and your information that is no longer needed is either irreversibly anonymized (and the anonymized information may be retained) or securely destroyed. To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the personal risk or harm from unauthorized use or disclosure, the purpose for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

Your rights

Under the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2017/676, you have various rights in relation to your personal data. All of these rights can be exercised by contacting us at privacy@businessoffashion.com.

In certain circumstances, you have the following rights in relation to your personal data:

Rights	Details
Right of Access	You have the right to obtain from us information as to whether your personal data is being processed, and, where that is the case, access to such personal data.
Right to Rectification	We will use reasonable endeavours to ensure that your personal information is accurate. In order to assist us with this, you should notify us of any changes to the personal information that you have provided to us by sending us a request to rectify your personal data where you believe the personal data we have is inaccurate or incomplete.
Right to erasure /'Right to be forgotten'	Asking us to delete all of your personal data will result in The Business of Fashion deleting your personal data without undue delay (unless there is a legitimate and legal reason why The Business of Fashion is unable to delete certain of your personal data, in which case we will inform you of this in writing).
Right to restriction of processing	You have the right to ask us to stop processing your personal data at any time.
Right to data portability	You have the right to request that The Business of Fashion provides you with a copy of all of your personal data and to transmit your personal data to another data controller in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, where it is technically feasible for us to do so and the processing is based on consent or contractual performance.
Right to complain	You have the right to lodge a complaint to a supervisory authority such as the Information Commissioner's Office in the UK (see www.ico.org.uk). Although we encourage our customers to engage with us in the event they have any concerns or complaints.

The Business of Fashion will not ordinarily charge you in respect of any requests we receive to exercise any of your rights detailed above; however, if you make excessive, repetitive or manifestly unfounded requests, we may charge you an administration fee in order to process such requests or refuse to act on such requests. Where we are required to provide a copy of the personal data undergoing processing this will be free of charge; however, any further copies requested may be subject to reasonable fees based on administrative costs.

Asking us to stop processing your personal data or deleting your personal data will likely mean that you are no longer able to use The Business of Fashion's Services, or at least those aspects of the Services which require the processing of the types of personal data you have asked us to delete, which may result in you no longer being able to use the Services.

Where you request The Business of Fashion to rectify or erase your personal data or restrict any processing of such personal data, The Business of Fashion may notify third parties to whom such personal data has been disclosed of such request. However, such third party may have the right to retain and continue to process such personal data in its own right, for example to enable it to comply with its own legal obligations.

Changes to this policy

Any changes we make to our privacy policy in the future will be posted on this page, and where appropriate, notified to you by email. We therefore encourage you to review it from time to time to stay informed of how we are processing your information.
